Estimado Sr. de los Reyes,

Your knock at my door Monday afternoon roused me from a nap, and I was still befogged. In a couple of minutes I thought of things I wanted to say, and I tried to catch you.

Before falling asleep I had read the copy of your piece that Prof. Patullo had brought me, and I thought it a fine job. Also I wanted to ask about your remarkable name. I have had many memorable sojourns and happy contacts in Spain and Latin America.

I might mention one small misunderstanding in your quote from Prof. Gleason. The age limit, now struck down, had always been high: 28 at election. So there were always about as many Ph.D.'s among newly elected Fellows as there are now - including Skinner and me at the very beginning of it all.

With best wishes,

Sincerely yours,

W. V. Quine
